CryptoPolis hosts its first Blockchain Meetup Chiasso becomes the Fintech heart

The Swiss association CryptoPolis is proud to announce the first blockchain meetup based in Chiasso.

The event will be held on October 25th at 6 p.m. at the Palapenz of Chiasso (Canton Ticino).

During the evening, the CryptoPolis association and some of the most important Swiss companies working in the digital currency sector will be presented for the first time.

Present at the event, the Mayor of the city of Chiasso, Bruno Arrigoni, together with prominent personalities of the fintech and the blockchain world, including Giacomo Zucco (BHB Network), and Andrea Benetton (Eidoo).

Also, Aron Camponovo, CryptoPolis President, Lars Schlichting of KPMG, and Amelia Tomasicchio, who will be the moderator of the evening will take the floor.

Thanks to the CryptoPolis association support, Chiasso municipality decided to accept bitcoin for tax payments until 250 CFH starting from January 2018.

In fact, CryptoPolis aims at promoting and supporting digital currencies use and the education in the technology sector to develop the best South European blockchain ecosystem.

Free Entry.
